Ground broken for Sunrise Crossing development

BY BOB DEMAREE

Just moments after Tuesday's groundbreaking was completed for the Sunrise Crossing development on Madison's hilltop, a track hoe was already moving dirt and preparing the site for what's to come at the former Madison Plaza Shopping Center at the southeast corner Michigan Road and Clifty Drive.

"We're excited to start the project. It's going happen fairly quick. In about 15 months we'll be looking forward to a ribbon-cutting, said Craig Turner, CRM managing partner.

On Tuesday, Turner announced three of the tenants for the first phase of the project — the Shoppes at Sunrise Crossing — with Hobby Lobby, T.J. Maxx and Five Below committed to the national retail center and at least one more to be announced.

Hobby Lobby, the huge national arts and crafts retailer, will anchor the stores that will front Clifty Drive and occupy 50,000 square feet. The company has more than 900 stores across the nation with the Madison location being the 28th location in Indiana. Five Below, a discount retailer with more than 1,200 stores nationally, will occupy 9,500 square feet and T.J. Maxx, a department store with nearly 1,300 outlets worldwide, will occupy 22,000 square feet.

Battery farm comes before BZA for variance

Proposal tabled a month for more study

BY MARK CAMPBELL

An energy storage company that uses banks of batteries to store electricity bought off the power grid to later resell during rolling blackouts and periods of peak consumption, wants to construct a $160 million battery farm on North Papermill Road in Madison.

Since the property is currently zoned agriculture, the company will need a zoning variance to locate there and representatives of Open Road Renewables/Williams Power, LLC appeared before Madison's Board of Zoning Appeals (BZA) on Monday to state their case and answer questions.

The 10-acre site located at 4000 N. Papermill Road was formerly owned by Suggett Schmidt Farms LLC but was sold to Open Road Renewables/ Williams Power, LLC for the purpose of developing the battery farm.

According to company officials, the Madison site — which is actually in Jefferson County but located within the city's 2-mile buffer zone — is near a utility substation, has ample space for the battery stacks and a lack of proximity to residential housing and other businesses, all factors that make it ideal for the project.

"You have the capacity on the grid and the lack of proximity from houses and the area is already covered in transmission lines," said Tim Ochs, an attorney for Ice Miller LLP in Indianapolis who was representing the companies at the meeting.

The plan calls for constructing a fenced-in area with concrete slabs supporting container-like structures that will house multiple banks of state-of-the-art rechargeable batteries similar to those used in cars and home battery banks connected

Ferrys the coolest teachers in town

CHARLIE ROHLFING
CHARLIE'S BEAT

Tom and Chandra Ferry are part of a growing trend among music lovers in Madison. Not content with just attending shows and soaking up the rich diversity of our music scene. They decided to become proactive and produce their own event.

Last month they staged their second annual Madstockapallooza weekend music party on their property at the top of Telegraph Hill. It was a private event, but it was well attended by all their friends, and friends of friends.

Last year was a single day, headlined by Rusty Bladen," explains Tom. "This year we went to a two day format, and we invited 10 total bands to play. Our headliner on Friday was Amy Noel and Michael Fortunato, and Saturday was Rusty again. Our focus is on local talent, of which we have plenty, as everyone knows."

A little background on Tom and Chandra: They moved to Madison from Indy about three years ago, having discovered our vibrant and music-filled quality of life. Both secured jobs at Madison Consolidated High School, Tom teaching science and Chandra teaching adult roles and responsibilities, child development, and culinary.

They started in a rental downtown and really got immersed in our social scene and nightlife, but eventually bought the 200 year old stone farmhouse on Indian Cave Road, originally built by Alois Bachman, and more recently owned by Tom Barber.

Scooter's coffee franchise targets car wash site

BY MARK CAMPBELL

One of the faster growing coffee chains in the U.S. is planning to locate in Madison and Madison Plan Commission on Monday approved site plans and setbacks for a Scooter's Coffee Drive-Thru to be built on the current Heitz Car Wash site at 335 Clifty Drive.

According to Jack Haughawout, of Carter Engineering Consultants Inc./Scooter's Coffee, the franchise will require construction of an 800-square-foot building after all existing buildings on the lot are torn down. He said Scooter's operates on a drive through business model so there will be no seating or service inside the building but the site will require eight parking spaces for staff — including one that is ADA accessible — and space for about 18 vehicles being serviced in the drive through lane.

The application was filed on behalf of Carter Engineering Consultants of Watkinsville, Georgia, and property owners Bernard C. and Norma D. Heitz of Madison.

According to Haughawout, gaining Plan Commission approval for to solar or wind power systems.

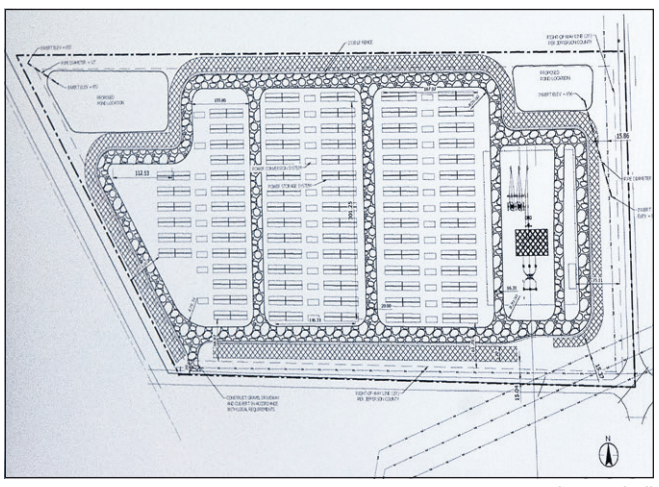
The banks of batteries would be connected to the power grid through the nearby utility substation with the batteries being charged during off-peak times when power usage is lower and electricity often costs less and then released back to the power grid at times when customer demand is highest and electricity most expensive to help prevent blackouts during heat waves, power plant outages and disasters.

The system acts like a home backup battery except that it will provide power to thousands of customers on the power grid as power companies and companies like Williams Power work to balance power supply with needs. The battery storage site will hold as much power as a 1,000-acre solar farm can produce, said Williams Power President Cyrus Tashakkor, who joined the meeting by phone while visiting Europe.

Among the commitments the company is seeking is not only the variance to locate the facility in Madison but a length of commitment that would allow for a return on the $160 million investment. Most variances approved by the BZA are from one to three years before the applicant must reapply. Companies proposing larger investments have been allowed more time before reapplication but they also often face more stringent guidelines concerning initial setup and sometimes tighter restrictions.



Mark Campbell

The arrangement of batteries proposed for a battery power storage farm on a 10-acre site at 4000 North Papermill Road in Madison. The banks of rechargeable batteries will sit on about an acre of the site.

According to Ochs, Williams Power would need such an allowance in order to invest $160 million in the site and Tashakkori said the company was willing to answer all questions and all concerns with its application.

The useful life of the power storage batteries is about 20 years but failing batteries can be replaced. However, Ochs noted that once the facility is finished it could be sold to a power company — like Duke Energy or others — so the variance would need to be transferable.

Ochs said power companies often let companies like Williams Power and Ice Miller do the planning and engineering, secure governmental approvals and complete construction of facilities like the one planned for Madison and then step in to buy or become partners with the site to avoid the risk of planning a project that may not be executed.

"We're pretty certain the owner will ultimately be a public utility and Open Road is just the go-between," Ochs said.

He said the 10-acre site would be fenced and screened from the public with vegetation, the amount of noise from the facility would be negligible and only 10% of the property would be used for battery storage with the remainder reserved as a buffer and for access.

The batteries contain no liquid that could leak from the site and produce no gas that could extend off site except perhaps in the event of a fire and that would be nothing different than if a laptop or electronic device caught fire.

The company will work with local firefighters for training on what to do if there is a fire at the facility but Ochs said the procedure basically involves letting the unit that is on fire burn itself out while spraying water on the other units to prevent spread.

Most of the questions posed by BZA members were answered on Monday except for one brought by Scott Baldwin, the BZA chairman, who asked what would happen if the complex was struck by a tornado or violent weather since the hilltop area has been hit often by storms in the past.

Ochs said he did not have engineering data on such a scenario but noted he could find that information and report back to the BZA.

A question Ochs did answer was whether the facility might extend the useful life of the Clifty Creek Generating Station in Madison that transmits on the power lines located near the proposed site. Since the electrical grid is all connected, the electricity charging the batteries could conceivably come from anywhere so the development should have no impact on the local power plant, Ochs said.

Baldwin said he did not see a particular problem with the company's proposal and that the facility would likely make the power system "more efficient and reliable." However, he also introduced the possibility of tabling the application for additional study and for an answer on potential weather vulnerabilities.

Devon Sharpe, attorney for the BZA, added that tabling the application was a good idea to give him and Madison City Attorney Joe Jenner time to review the application in more detail. He asked if a month delay would impact the project negatively and Ochs said it would not.

"If more time is needed we are happy to do that," Ochs said, later adding "If you all aren't comfortable we don't want to push. We think the project speaks for itself."

The BZA agreed to forward any additional concerns to prior to its August meeting as well as any other concerns brought before the BZA.

PACE board approves 9 grant applications

BY BOB DEMAREE

Nine applications for PACE grants scored high enough at Tuesday's PACE Review Committee meeting to move onto the Board of Public Works and Safety for final approval at its meeting next week.

Among those was property owned by Cornerstone Society at 815-817 West Second St. in which it hopes to develop a revolving fund that will allow for rehabilitation of more historic structures in downtown Madison.

Link Ludington, president of Cornerstone, said the organization is working on a partnership with Indiana Landmarks for funding additional to the PACE dollars for an entire rehabilitation of the exterior, which he characterized as a double barrel shotgun structure.

"Our intent, and why we got involved in this project, is that this would be our first project to fund our revolving fund" in which Cornerstone would rehabilitate a structure, then sell it with the proceeds used to buy another building for rehabilitation. "It is turning it back into a fund that will give us the capability of acquiring property" to rehabilitate. "Our intent is that whatever point it is attractive enough to a new owner we would sell it as a finish product, or for someone else to do the interior the way they want to."

Other PACE applications that met scoring criteria were 612 Walnut Street for Dana Jo Johnson to replace the front porch, 214 East Third St. to Scott and Maria Axline for tuck pointing, 418 Cragmont St. to Patricia Gosman for porch repair, 427 Mulberry St. to Michael and Starla Raley for replacing windows, 512 Elm St. to Amanda Briner for tuck pointing, 313 W. Third St. to John and Melanie Harrell for exterior work, and 323 Poplar St. and 945 W. Second St., both to Michelle Sanchez and Elizabeth Sanchez.

The 323 Poplar St. property is the side entrance to second floor apartments of a building that has multiple addresses from 301 W. Main St. to 311 W. Main St. Michelle Sanchez noted moisture damage has impacted an exterior wall and the PACE grant would be used toward that repair. However, she said the repair will not occur until interior repair work is accomplished which will not be part of the grant. The 945 W. Second St. project involves removal of paint from the exterior in an effort to correct a moisture issue.

Nicole Schell, the city's director of planning, said funding was available for each of the PACE applications so board members Jim Bartlett, Bill Ohlendorf and Lisa Ferguson voted unanimously to recommend approval of all to the Board of Public Works and Safety.

One other PACE application was for Madison Presbyterian Church, 202 Broadway St.. The city attorney recommended that project go directly to the Board of Public Works and Safety for approval because of conflict-of-interest issues with PACE members who are active in that church.

The board approved an amendment to a PACE grant to Rick Grote at 801 W. Main St. in which the contractor discovered the project would require more bricks than originally quoted, taking it from $5,250 to $5,910. The request was made to cover the $660 increase for materials, amounting to $330 more in the grant.

Schell also informed the board concerning a $325,000 National Park Service (NPS) Paul Bruhn Historic Revitalization Grant the city has received to support the PACE grant program. She said the funds are not yet available with a meeting scheduled next week with NPS to discuss grant requirements.

"Once we go through that, we'll go through the process of signing the documentation to accept that money" which will then require City Council approval to finalize acceptance of the funds. After that, Schell will work with the board in knowing the guidelines that will go with those grant funds.

The next PACE meeting will be Tuesday, Sept. 13 in which the deadline for grant applications is 3 p.m. on Monday, Aug. 1.

the site plan and setbacks is just one step in overall approval for the franchise on Clifty Drive. He said the next step, one that is already underway, is to gain Indiana Department of Transportation approval for the entrance and exit onto Clifty Drive, which is a state highway.

Since the car wash already has an entrance and exit to Clifty Drive that will most likely not be an issue. However, one of the issues Plan Commission members had was how the franchise would deal with traffic and potential backups onto Clifty Drive. Commission member Josh Wilber noted that Starbucks franchises routinely have backups and Scooter's would seem to be a similar business.

Haughawout said the length of the drive through combined with the ability to serve customers should result in no backups onto Clifty Drive even during peak business periods. He said the menu board will be located about six car lengths from the service window and that should allow sufficient time for orders to be filled so traffic can keep moving.

Haughawout said based on the average time it takes to fill orders, the restaurant should be able to accommodate about 28 cars per hour and the franchise in Madison will have enough drive through lanes to handle 28 cars per hour before creating a backup.

He said franchises are usually staffed by about three employees per shift.

The closest Scooter's franchise to Madison currently is in eastern Jefferson County, Kentucky. However, a franchise is currently under construction in New Castle, Indiana, and Haughawout said his company is currently working on five of six projects in Indiana.

Scooter's is based in Nebraska and was established in 1998 and now has more than 300 franchises in the U.S. In addition to various coffee drinks, the outlets also sell sandwiches and pastry products consistent with that found in many coffee shops.

Haughawout said the goal is to have the franchise built and open by the end of the year.

Mark Campbell

A large turnout attended Tuesday's groundbreaking for the new Shoppes at Sunrise Crossing commercial development on Madison's hilltop. The national retail mall will by built on the former Madison Plaza site that has sat idle for about a decade.

"The nice thing is that we have more in store for you as the center progresses," said Turner, noting an announcement for another national retailer is "just weeks away" for a letter of intent to be signed. Due to a non-disclosure agreement, he said that tenant cannot be announced until the lease is executed.

The second phase of the redevelopment is a 192-unit apartment complex that will be the Residences of Sunrise Crossing developed by real estate company, Winterwood Inc.

"Today marks a new day for Madison's hilltop that will usher in a much-needed investment in new retail, restaurants, housing, sidewalks, enhanced traffic safety, new road infrastructure improvements, industry expansion with higher earning jobs, and even new stormwater management methods benefiting the Miles Ridge, Franks Ridge and downtown north Walnut Street neighborhoods, all while improving Madison's quality of life," said Madison Mayor Bob Courtney.

"With careful planning we have designed something that may well just save lives in the future. Nearly 80 acres of hilltop watershed from commercial property will now flow into a retention basin, slowing the release of water, while it makes its way downtown to the Ohio River. This basin, when full, will hold almost 350,000 cubic feet of stormwater, releasing it much slower than it runs off right now," Courtney said.

He added that equates to more than 2.8 million gallons of water being slowed down from its source. "As now designed, during a two-year storm the downstream flow will actually decrease about 10%. During a 10-year storm this decrease goes up to around 30%. And during a 100-year event, it may be upwards of a 40% decrease. This is a huge improvement for the surrounding area."

Garyen Denning, managing partner for CRM, also announced that metal sculpture artist Dale Rogers will provide a custom made sculpture called "Birdman" that will be permanently on display when the shopping center opens.

"The real exciting part of the project," said Denning, "is that Dale is going to come and be a visiting professor" with Eric Phagan's art classes at Madison Junior High School, "and teach the kids about art, and what art means, and not only how it's done but the purpose behind it, and benefits you can get from being an artist and from using that as an outlet."

Denning also noted there will be a partnership with the high school's Cub Industries where students will be "reproducing and making 10 to 12 more of these sculptures that will be placed throughout Madison and throughout the county. So, you're not only going to have an iconic structure, but we're going to be able to engage with these students, and you're going see these throughout" the community. "The students will have a very good experience."

The Madison Plaza Shopping Center opened in 1974 with the partially constructed building being totally destroyed by the April 3, 1974 tornado that hit Jefferson County. But construction was re-started with Shapira's, a Louisville-based department store chain, opening on Oct. 21, 1974 as the shopping center neared completion, along with Haag Drug Store, which was an Indianapolis-based chain. Early in 1975, TG&Y, a variety discount chain, opened along with Radio Shack and a Jay C grocery store, which after many years with a downtown location decided to also have a hilltop location. Eventually, the Madison Plaza Shopping Center began to struggle — especially after River Pointe Shopping Center opened in the late 1980s bringing a JC Penney to Madison — and the Walmart opened on Ivy Tech Drive. During the summer of 2015, the Madison Plaza Shopping Center was demolished.

Tony Steinhardt III, the city's economic development director, said revitalization of the Madison Plaza property was a vision that was outlined in the city's 2016 comprehensive plan "to create a vibrant, attractive plan on this 22-acre parcel, a mixed use project featuring housing, office and retail uses. Since then this community and the city's administrations since have worked to figure out the development possibilities, none of which was easy."

Steinhardt said when he came to work for the city just six months ago, "this was the first project re-start conversation I had with the Mayor after this project was put on hiatus because of COVID. But, trust me, the real first conversation was we need a downtown grocery store," he said, adding that "will happen and will happen soon."

Steinhardt said the Sunrise Crossing retail and housing projects have been "a vision of collaboration that you don't often see with many developers, but not just one, but two developers who cared about Madison and who will be corporate citizens for a long time to come."

Turner noted he's been in the real estate business for more than 35 years, developing properties from Indiana to Florida, and "I can tell you of all the communities we've worked with, and had the opportunity to do some exciting things, I don't think we've run into a Mayor" and staff that has "been so passionate about making this happen. We had moments that we were in doubt. We had moments when things weren't going just right, but they were persistent, they were kind, but more importantly they were helpful."

Joe Craig, secretary of Madison's Redevelopment Commission, said he's served on the board for several years with hopes of what could be done with the Madison Plaza property. "It great to see that this project is finally going to happen today," he said, noting he's excited about what's to come with "fresh asphalt and new buildings with lots of cars parked out front" of them. "It's going to be a great start for a great project."

Courtney praised the investment that's being made in Madison through Sunrise Crossing projects. "The best barometer to gauge the health of any community is to measure the level of investment that it attracts. All of the community metrics we measure such as population growth, prosperity, poverty levels, unemployment and workforce participation are moving in the right direction and is properly leveraging our financial resources. We are attracting unprecedented amounts of private investment" that he said is "defining this new chapter of Madison's future."

TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Thursday, July 14, the 195th day of 2022. There are 170 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On July 14, 2004, the Senate scuttled a constitutional amendment banning gay marriage. (Forty-eight senators voted to advance the measure — 12 short of the 60 needed — and 50 voted to block it).

On this date:

In 1789, in an event symbolizing the start of the French Revolution, citizens of Paris stormed the Bastille prison and released the seven prisoners inside.

In 1798, Congress passed the Sedition Act, making it a federal crime to publish false, scandalous or malicious writing about the United States government.

In 1881, outlaw William H. Bonney Jr., alias "Billy the Kid," was shot and killed by Sheriff Pat Garrett in Fort Sumner in present-day New Mexico.

In 1912, American folk singer-songwriter Woody Guthrie ("This Land Is Your Land") was born in Okemah, Oklahoma.

In 1933, all German political parties, except the Nazi Party, were outlawed.

In 1945, Italy formally declared war on Japan, its former Axis partner during World War II.

In 1976, Jimmy Carter won the Democratic presidential nomination at the party's convention in New York.

In 1980, the Republican national convention opened in Detroit, where nominee-apparent Ronald Reagan told a welcoming rally he and his supporters were determined to "make America great again."

In 2009, disgraced financier Bernard Madoff arrived at the Butner Federal Correctional Complex in North Carolina to begin serving a 150-year sentence for his massive Ponzi scheme. (Madoff died in prison in April 2021.)

In 2015, world powers and Iran struck a deal to curb Iran's nuclear program in exchange for relief from international sanctions.

In 2016, terror struck Bastille Day celebrations in the French Riviera city of Nice (nees) as a large truck plowed into a festive crowd, killing 86 people in an attack claimed by Islamic State extremists; the driver was shot dead by police.

In 2020, researchers reported that the first COVID-19 vaccine tested in the U.S. revved up people's immune systems as scientists had hoped; the vaccine was developed by the National Institutes of Health and Moderna Inc. The federal government carried out its first execution in almost two decades, killing by lethal injection Daniel Lewis Lee, who'd been convicted of murdering an Arkansas family in a 1990s plot to build a whites-only nation in the Pacific Northwest.

Ten years ago: A suicide bomber blew himself up among guests at a wedding hall in northern Afghanistan, killing 23 people, including a prominent ex-Uzbek warlord turned lawmaker who was the father of the bride.

Five years ago: A Russian-American lobbyist said he attended a June 2016 meeting with President Donald Trump's son that was billed as part of a Russian government effort to help the Republican campaign. Arab assailants opened fire from inside a major Jerusalem shrine, killing two Israeli policemen before being shot dead.

One year ago: The World Health Organization reported that COVID-19 deaths had climbed globally in the preceding week after nine straight weeks of declines; the setback triggered another round of restrictions. The U.S. government reported that deaths from drug overdoses had soared to a record 93,000 in 2021 in the midst of the COVID-19 pandemic; experts said lockdowns and other restrictions had isolated those with drug addictions and made treatment harder to get.

Today's Birthdays: Actor Nancy Olson is 94. Former football player and actor Rosey Grier is 90. Actor Vincent Pastore is 76. Music company executive Tommy Mottola is 74. Rock musician Chris Cross (Ultravox) is 70. Actor Jerry Houser is 70. Actor-director Eric Laneuville is 70. Actor Stan Shaw is 70. Movie producer Scott Rudin is 64. Singer-guitarist Kyle Gass is 62. TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Friday, July 15, the 196th day of 2022. There are 169 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On July 15, 1916, Boeing Co., originally known as Pacific Aero Products Co., was founded in Seattle.

On this date:

In 1870, Georgia became the last Confederate state to be readmitted to the Union.

In 1913, Democrat Augustus Bacon of Georgia became the first person elected to the U.S. Senate under the terms of the recently ratified 17th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, providing for popular election of senators.

In 1975, three American astronauts blasted off aboard an Apollo spaceship hours after two Soviet cosmonauts were launched aboard a Soyuz spacecraft for a mission that included a linkup of the two ships in orbit.

In 1996, MSNBC, a 24-hour all-news network, made its debut on cable and the internet.

In 1997, fashion designer Gianni Versace, 50, was shot dead outside his Miami Beach home; suspected gunman Andrew Phillip Cunanan, 27, was found dead eight days later, a suicide. (Investigators believed Cunanan killed four other people before Versace in a cross-country rampage that began the previous March.)

In 2002, John Walker Lindh, an American who'd fought alongside the Taliban in Afghanistan, pleaded guilty in federal court in Alexandria, Virginia, to two felonies in a deal sparing him life in prison.

In 2016, Donald Trump chose Indiana Gov. Mike Pence, an experienced politician with deep Washington connections, as his running mate.

In 2018, President Donald Trump arrived in Finland for a summit with Russian President Vladimir Putin. Earlier, in an interview with CBS News, Trump named the European Union as a top adversary of the United States.

In 2019, avowed white supremacist James Alex Fields Jr. was sentenced to life in prison plus 419 years for killing one and injuring dozens of others when he deliberately drove his car into a crowd of anti-racism protesters during a rally in Charlottesville, Virginia.

In 2020, George Floyd's family filed a lawsuit against the city of Minneapolis and the four police officers charged in his death, alleging the officers violated Floyd's rights when they restrained him and that the city allowed a culture of excessive force, racism and impunity to flourish in its police force. (The city would agree to pay $27 million to settle the lawsuit in March 2021.)

Ten years ago: Syria's 16-month bloodbath crossed an important symbolic threshold as the international Red Cross formally declared the conflict a civil war, a status with implications for potential war crimes prosecutions. A Russian Soyuz craft launched into the morning skies over Kazakhstan, carrying three space travelers, including NASA astronaut Sunita Williams, to the International Space Station. Oscar-winning actor Celeste Holm, 95, died in New York.

Five years ago: After twice being rejected for U.S. visas, an all-girl robotics team from Afghanistan arrived in Washington for an international competition after President Donald Trump used a rare "parole" mechanism to sidestep the visa system; the case had become a flashpoint in the debate about Trump's efforts to tighten entrance to the U.S. Two former high-ranking Penn State administrators surrendered to serve jail sentences for how they responded to a 2001 complaint about assistant football coach Jerry Sandusky showering with a boy. Garbine Muguruza beat Venus Williams 7-5, 6-0 to win the Wimbledon title. Oscar-winning actor Martin Landau died at the age of 89.

One year ago: A jury found gunman Jarrod Ramos criminally responsible for killing five people in the newsroom of the Capital Gazette newspaper in Annapolis, Maryland in 2018. (Ramos would be sentenced to more than five life sentences without the possibility of parole.) Amid a sharp increase in coronavirus cases, officials in Los Angeles County said masks would again be required indoors, even for people who'd been vaccinated.

Today's Birthdays: Actor Patrick Wayne is 83. R&B singer Millie Jackson is 78. Rock singer-musician Peter Lewis (Moby Grape) is 77. Singer Linda Ronstadt is 76. Rock musician Artimus Pyle is 74. Arianna Huffington, co-founder of The Huffington Post, is 72. Actor Celia Imrie is 70. Actor Terry O'Quinn is 70. Rock singer-musician David Pack is 70. Rock musician Marky Ramone is 70. Rock musician Joe Satriani is 66. Country singer-songwriter Mac McAnally is 65. Model Kim Alexis is 62. Actor Willie Aames is 62. Actor-director Forest Whitaker is 61. Actor Lolita Davidovich is 61. Actor Shari Headley is 59. Actor Brigitte Nielsen is 59. Rock musician Jason Bonham is 56. Actor Amanda Foreman is 56. R&B singer Stokley (Mint Condition) is 55.

TEACHERS

"This is a special property," says Tom. "It has the great pond behind the house. It has several acres of rolling lawn and fields. It's a perfect place to throw a big party and put on a music show.

"We're both music freaks," continues Chandra. "It's always been very important to us. So moving to Madison and discovering so much talent right here, it was exciting. In fact, we quickly became friends with many of the musicians. It just made sense to throw a big party and get everybody to play!

"I kind of view Madison as a cross between Mayberrry and Key West. We have the friendly small town vibe, but we're also a town that loves a good party and appreciates good music.

"Bottom line, even though we are recent transplants to Madison, we recognize it for the special place it is. We see our little festival as our way of pitching in and supporting the music and arts movement. We're not personally musicians, but we still wanted to be a part of it. This is our contribution."

If you're a music fan who would like to get more active and involved, there are lots of opportunities in Madison. You can hire a band (or a bunch of bands, like Tom and Chandra) and throw your own music party for your friends. Some people have even been known to put on spontaneous pop up shows in the alleys around town.

You can also sponsor a favorite band and book them into one of the many venues around town. Red Bicycle Hall is available for quality original acts, and most bars and clubs would be amenable to you bringing in a band. The city is very open to outdoor events and will work with you to close a street for a block party or reserve a park. Just ask them.

We have talented musicians. We have the venue spaces and infrastructure. And the town has a "can do" attitude when it comes to staging events. If you're ready to get off the sidelines and get in the game, Madison is the place to do it!

HOT TIP OF THE WEEK

On Friday, The Rigby's Beatles Tribute Band is playing at the Ohio Theatre. These guys played the Lanier Mansion a couple years back and they are the real deal. Close your eyes and you'll be transported. Also "Close your eyes and I'll kiss you, tomorrow I'll miss you." On Saturday you have tons of great choices, but John Moreland at Red Bike stands out for that heartfelt country songwriter experience. If you're looking for a little more upbeat, the powerful young quartet Bluebird Alley Band is playing at Mad Paddle. Their song choices will surprise and delight you!

Charlie Rohlfing is a retired advertising man and partner in The Red Bicycle Hall music venue. Look for his distinctive fedora bobbing above the crowd, anywhere live local music is happening.

Regular season wraps up with blowout win, loss

BY THE COURIER STAFF

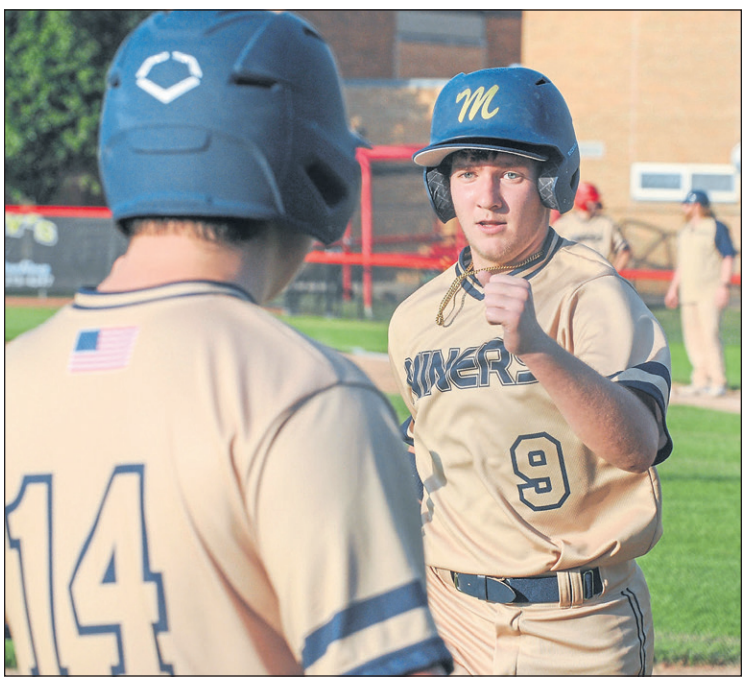
Madison's Post 9 baseball team wrapped up an abbreviated American Legion regular season with a blowout win and a blowout loss this week.

On Monday, the Niners recovered from an early 2-0 deficit to roll to a 21-3 win over the Moores Hill Baseball Club at home.

Madison collected only seven hits in the game but took advantage of six Moores Hill errors and 10 walks to blow open the game. After allowing two runs in the top of the first, the Niners scored a run in the bottom of the first and took the lead with a three-run second.

Madison then turned the game into a rout with five runs in the fourth and 12 in the fourth for the final margin.

Kaid Fink lashed a triple, drove in three runs and scored a run to lead the Niners while Abe Reetz had a double, three RBIs and a run scored. Holden Gluba had a hit, two RBIs and scored a run, Jacob Hertz had a hit, an RBI and scored three times, Mitchell Cammack and Bodie Harsin each had a hit, an RBI and two runs scored, and Lincoln Sheets had a hit, an RBI and scored a run.



David Campbell

Madison Post 9's Wyatt Nichter (9) is congratulated by teammate Lincoln Sheets (14) after scoring a run in the Niners' 21-3 win over Moores Hill on Monday.

In addition, Storm Poling drew two walks, had an RBI and scored three runs, Wyatt Nichter had two hits and scored two runs, Colton O'Neal had an RBI and scored twice, Austin Jenkins scored three runs, and Nolan Vanliew and Damon Harden each had an RBI.

O'Neal allowed three earned runs on one hit in three innings with five strikeouts to get the win. Fink pitched the final two innings with six strikeouts.

Things didn't go as well for the Niners on Tuesday with a 17-5 loss to Iroquois Post 229 in Pleasure Ridge Park, Kentucky.

Iroquois scored six runs in the first inning but Madison countered with four in the second to stay in the game.

But Post 229 added two runs in the second and nine in the third to blow open the game.

Madison was limited to just two hits — both singles by Gluba — in the game although the Niners did draw 10 walks. O'Neal scored a pair of runs, Hertz, Fink and Harsin each scored a run, Gluba had two RBIs and Cammack drove in one run.

Nichter suffered the loss after allowing six runs — just one earned — on three hits in one inning. Poling, Hertz, Harden and Harsin also saw time on the mound.

Indiana American Legion moved up its regional tournament one week forcing Madison to cancel doubleheaders this weekend against both Danville and Oldham County. Instead, the Niners will travel to Wapahani High School near Richmond for the Regional Tournament where they will take on Richmond in the opening round of the double-elimination tournament on Friday. Muncie is the other team in the regional.

Reds beat Yankees 4-3 in comeback

BY LARRY FLEISHER

NEW YORK — Jonathan India drove in two runs with a go-ahead, bases-loaded single with two outs in the ninth inning and the Cincinnati Reds completed an unlikely comeback, rallying past the New York Yankees 4-3 Tuesday night.

The Yankees were 49-0 when leading after eight innings and the Reds were 0-48 when trailing after eight before New York closer Clay Holmes (4-1) failed to retire any of the five hitters he faced.

Holmes loaded the bases by plunking Tyler Stephenson and allowed an RBI single to Tyler Naquin and heard boos after hitting Kyle Farmer with a pitch.

"I think this is just an outlier," manager Aaron Boone said of Holmes, whose ERA climbed from 0.46 to 1.37. "We certainly pay attention to it, but I don't think it was anything more than him being of whack tonight."

It was the most runs Holmes allowed in a game since joining the Yankees. He had allowed two earned runs in his first 38 games.

"It can't happen," Holmes said. "I have to be a little better at making some in-game adjustments."

Wandy Peralta got two outs and was one strike away when India lined a single into center field to score Farmer and Donovan Solano.

"To get down 0-2 right there in that situation, it takes a big at-bat to win the game and he came through," Reds manager David Bell said. "He wants to be the guy in those situations."

Aaron Judge struck out as a pinch-hitter in the ninth against Alexis Diaz, brother of Mets closer Edwin Diaz. The Reds reliever got a double play from Gleyber Torres to finish his third career save.

"It's really emotional, especially the kind of ninth inning that we had today," Diaz said through a translator.

The Reds won their season-high fifth straight game and pulled off their fifth win in the ninth inning since July 3. Cincinnati also overcame a three-run deficit in the eighth inning or later for the second time in three games.

Reiver Sanmartin (2-4) pitched a scoreless eighth to put the Reds in position for the comeback.

The Reds did little against Gerrit Cole, who allowed four hits and struck out 11 in seven innings.

The Yankees have lost three straight for the second time this year after blowing a pair of leads in their four-game series at Boston.

"For this season, it definitely feels a little unusual," New York third baseman Josh Donaldson said. "I think that's a good thing. Just tells you how well that we have played."

Following a nearly 60-minute delay where it never rained and the tarp never covered the field, Cole became the ninth active pitcher to reach 1,800 strikeouts when he whiffed Tommy Pham to end the third with two on.

Cole ended his night by getting strikeouts during lengthy at-bats to Farmer and Mike Moustakas.

Cole fanned Farmer on a 98.8 mph, full-count fastball that the shortstop thought was ball four and reached 100.5 mph when he struck out Moustakas.

It was Cole's 52nd career double-digit strikeout game and fifth this year. His 113 pitches were one shy of his season-high set in the first game of a doubleheader May 8 against Texas.

Michael King tossed a scoreless eighth before Holmes blew his third save opportunity.

Anthony Rizzo hit a two-run single in the first and Josh Donaldson added an RBI single in the third as the Yankees went ahead early against Cincinnati rookie Graham Ashcraft.

Torres doubled twice, had three hits, reached four times, and scored twice.

NASCAR's Elliott is steady as a rock

BY PAUL NEWBERRY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

HAMPTON, Ga. — Sure, it's been a wild NASCAR Cup season, with seemingly everyone in the field capable of taking the checkered flag.

Through all the chaos, one driver has emerged as the clear favorite.

Chase Elliott is the guy everyone else is chasing.

The 26-year-old became the first three-time winner in the Cup series with a thrilling victory at his home track Sunday, making a timely block on the final lap to fend off Corey LaJoie's bid to become the most unlikely winner yet in a year filled with surprises.

Elliott checked off another box on his increasingly impressive resume with the win at Atlanta Motor Speedway, joining his father Bill as the only Georgia-born drivers to take first at the historic track.

That made for a raucous celebration in front of the main grandstand, where Elliott celebrated with a crowd that cheered every move by the No. 9 Chevrolet.

But setting emotions aside, it was another masterful performance by NASCAR's steadiest driver — the kind that have become the norm rather than the exception.

"I just saw a look in his eye all day," said four-time Cup champion Jeff Gordon, now the vice chairman of Hendrick Motorsports. "You could hear it in his voice over the radio. He was just very focused and determined."

Elliott won the first two stages of the Atlanta race. He led 96 of the 260 laps, more than twice as many as anyone else on the treacherous, high-banked track. And at the end, after surging by LaJoie with just under two laps to go and taking the white flag still out front, he aggressively slid up the track going into Turn 1 to prevent LaJoie from pulling off the same move.

LaJoie, with only one top-five finish in his career, stayed on the gas, ran out of room and smacked the wall. Elliott sped away unscathed, his victory assured as soon as the yellow flag came out.

"Just a lot of motivation behind it and confidence coming into it," Gordon said. "And now the confidence is only going to build along with the team. That's a great combination to have at this point in the season."

Elliott was a bit apologetic about his closing move, but LaJoie had no complaints.

It was just good, hard racing — and Elliott is as good as anyone in that department.

"I hate to throw a megablock like that," he said. "But, heck, we're on the last lap. ... The guy is coming with a massive run. Am I taking a chance of crashing when I threw it up in front of him? Absolutely. But I didn't think I was going to get another shot at him if I let him grab the lead right there."

In addition to his wins at Dover, Nashville and Atlanta, Elliott has a runner-up finish at Road America, a fourth-place showing at Circuit of the Americas and a fifth-place result from Darlington.

Tyler Reddick, driver of the No. 8 3CHI Chevrolet, celebrates in victory lane after winning the NASCAR Cup Series Kwik Trip 250 at Road America on July 3 in Elkhart Lake, Wisconsin.

23XI Racing hires Reddick for 2024

BY DAN GELSTON
ASSOCIATED PRESS

23XI Racing got a jump on the 2024 Cup Series season with the surprising announcement Tuesday that it signed Tyler Reddick to join the NASCAR team owned by Michael Jordan and Denny Hamlin.

Reddick, a two-time Xfinity Series champion, is in his third full season driving for Richard Childress Racing. He is coming off his breakthrough first career Cup victor y on July 3 at Road America.

The 26-year-old Reddick still has one season left driving for RCR, a potentially awkward situation the team addressed in a tweet when it wrote the " timing of this announcement could not be any worse."

It seemed a perfect moment to strike for 23XI. The race team fields cars this season for Bubba Wallace and Kurt Busch and both drivers are signed through the end of next season. Hamlin said he expected 23XI to remain a two-car organization and did not address how Reddick and the other drivers would fit — though at 43, Busch's career could be winding down. Both drivers won a race — Wallace won last season at Talladega; Busch this year at Kansas — for 23XI.

The 26-year-old Reddick signed a multi-year deal with 23XI and is now positioned as an anchor for the team for years ahead.

"I watched him, I raced against him, I wanted him and I got him," Hamlin said.

Reddick made the playoffs last season and finished 13th in the points standings. His win at Road America earned him a second straight playoff berth and solidified his credentials as a driver on the rise. He's made 93 career starts and has 11 top-five finishes — five this season — for RCR.

Reddick said his decision should have not been a "total shock" to team owner Richard Childress and that he was ready to chase championships in the No. 8 Chevrolet with the time he has left at RCR.

"We're going to see it through together and we're going to go out and make the most of it," Reddick said. "We're going to try and grow together."

Hamlin said Busch and Wallace were expected to return in 2023 and it was too early to determine all the important details for Reddick such as sponsor, car number — and even which driver he would replace in the lineup, if any at all.

Hamlin said he wanted Busch, the 2004 Cup champion, to end his career with 23XI.

"Once he's done driving, he's going to have a nice cushy office job at 23XI," Hamlin said.

The race team was founded in 2021 with Wallace as the lone driver. Busch was added this season. The only Black driver in the Cup series, Wallace has struggled this season and has two top-10 finishes in 19 Cup races. Hamlin said "all scenarios are always out there" but appeared committed to keep 23XI a two-car lineup.

Reddick, who is part of a two-car lineup at RCR with Austin Dillon, "crashed" a scheduled Toyota video call Tuesday that included Hamlin, Toyota Racing Development David Wilson and 23XI Racing President Steve Lauletta. Reddick defended the decision to announce his 2024 jump almost a year and a half ahead of his scheduled first points race for 23XI Racing in the Daytona 500.

"I feel like it gives everyone time to figure out what lies ahead," Reddick said.

NBA SUMMER LEAGUE

Grizzlies tie scoring record, beat Nets 120-84

LAS VEGAS — Santi Aldama scored 31 points, David Roddy added 20 and the Memphis Grizzlies tied the Las Vegas Summer League record for points in a game in a 120-84 victory over the Brooklyn Nets on Tuesday.

The Grizzlies (2-1), who never trailed and led by double figures for more than 33 minutes, hit 12 3-pointers, shot 59% from the field and had 31 assists. Their 120 points matched the record set by the Denver Nuggets in 2007.

Summer League games are 40 minutes, eight fewer than an NBA regular-season game.

The 6-foot-11 Aldama, a first-round draft pick in 2021, made 12 of 14 from the field, hit 4 of 5 from 3-point range, grabbed nine rebounds and blocked three shots. Ziaire Williams, the No. 10 pick in the 2021 draft, had 14 points, seven rebounds and eight assists.

Roddy, a 6-foot-5, 255-pound forward who was picked No. 23 overall in June's draft, was 7-of-11 shooting. Kenneth Lofton Jr. added 11 points, eight rebounds and four assists.

Cam Thomas made 11 of 13 free throws and finished with 29 points for Brooklyn (1-2). The No. 27 pick overall in the 2021 draft, Thomas has scored at least 26 points in each of his three games in Las Vegas and is averaging 28.7 per game. Day'Ron Sharpe added 13 points, nine rebounds and two blocks, and David Duke Jr. scored 12 points.

BULLS 93, RAPTORS 83

Carlik Jones scored 17 points on 7-of-7 shooting with five assists, and Dalen Terry scored all of his 14 points in the first half to help Chicago beat Toronto.

Malcolm Hill added 11 points for Chicago (2-1). Ethan Thompson and Makur Maker scored 10 points apiece.

Toronto scored 12 fourth-quarter points, nine that came as Ryan Hawkins hit three 3-pointers in the final 64 seconds.

Dalano Banton scored 18 points for Toronto (1-1). Jeff Dowtin added 16 points and D.J. Wilson scored 10. Christian Koloko, a 7-foot center out of Arizona, finished with five points, four rebounds and three blocks. The Raptors' only pick (No. 33 overall) in June's draft, Koloko shot 2 of 8 from the field and 0 for 3 from the free throw line but made his lone 3-point attempt.

The Bulls, who trailed by as many as 10 points in the first quarter, shot 55% (33 of 60) from the field, had 20 assists and scored 36 points off 18 Toronto turnovers.

HAWKS 95, HEAT 88

Tyrese Martin scored 21 points on 9-of-14 shooting, while Chaundee Brown Jr. was 8 of 11 from the field and finished with 18 points to help Atlanta beat Miami.

Chris Clemons, who averaged 30.1 points as a senior at Campbell in 2018-19, scored 15 for the Hawks.

Atlanta (1-2) made 37 of 69 (53.6%) from the field and shot 44.4% (8 of 18) from 3-point range.

Javonte Smart led Miami with 19 points on 5-of-14 shooting. Kyle Allman Jr. scored 14 points and Bryson Williams 11.

CELTICS 103, WARRIORS 92

Mfiondu Kabengele had 20 points and 13 rebounds, 19-year-old Juhann Begarin scored 21 points and Boston beat Golden State despite big games by Jonathan Kuminga and Moses Moody.

Kuminga scored 22 points on 11-of-22 shooting. Moody added 21 but made just 6 of 19 from the field and 2 of 9 from 3-point range.

James Wiseman, the No. 2 pick in the 2020 draft, had six points, seven rebounds and three blocks in his second game back from a knee injury that sidelined him for most of the last year-plus.

Justin Jackson scored 24 points, including five 3-pointers, for Boston. Brodric Thomas hit 4 of 7 from 3-point range and finished with 18 points.

PACERS 101, PISTONS 87

Bennedict Mathurin shot 5 of 9 from the field, 9 of 10 from the free throw line and finished with 20 points to help Indiana beat Jaden Ivey-less Detroit.

The No. 6 pick in last month's draft, Mathurin added five rebounds, three assists and three steals with no turnovers. Terry Taylor had 14 points and nine rebounds, and Isaiah Jackson also scored 14 points on 7-of-7 shooting for the Pacers. Aaron Nesmith added 12 points.

Ivey, taken by the Pistons with the No. 5 pick in the draft, as well as Saben Lee, Isaiah Stewart and Isaiah Livers did not play for Detroit.

Buddy Boeheim led the Pistons with 18 points. Stanley Umude scored 14, Charlie Moore added 13 and Jalen Duren — picked 13th overall in June's draft — had 12 points.

SUNS 105, MAVERICKS 78

Louis King and Olivier Sarr each had a double-double to lead Phoenix in its rout of Dallas.

King finished with 14 points and 10 rebounds, and Sarr added 12 points and 10 rebounds. Jo Lual-Acuil Jr. also scored 12 points, McKinley Wright IV had 11 and Leonardo Meindl 10 for the Suns.

Jerrick Harding led the Mavericks with 20 points and A.J. Lawson scored 10. Jaden Hardy had 11 points on 4-of-15 shooting. Hardy, the No. 37 overall pick is last month's draft, was a consensus 5-star recruit out of high school in 2021 and spent last season with the NBA G League Unite.

LAKERS 83, CLIPPERS 72

Mason Jones had 15 points and 10 rebounds, and Javante McCoy scored 14 points to help the Lakers beat the Clippers.

Sacha Killeya-Jones added 11 points, eight rebounds and two blocks for the Lakers. Nate Pierre-Louis scored 10 points.

Jay Scrubb and Brandon Boston Jr. scored 15 points apiece for the Clippers. Boston made just 3 of 12 from the field but hit 9-of-12 free throws and grabbed nine rebounds.

Moeller, former Michigan, Lions coach, dies

BY LARRY LAGE
ASSOCIATED PRESS

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Gary Moeller, who succeeded Bo Schembechler as Michigan's coach and later led the Detroit Lions, died Monday. He was 81.

The University of Michigan announced his death, and no cause was provided.

Moeller was promoted from offensive coordinator to lead the Wolverines' program in 1990 and was 44-13-3 over five seasons.

"Gary Moeller was a great family man, great friend, great coach, and a man of integrity and high character," Lloyd Carr, who succeeded Moeller as Michigan's coach, said in a statement. "I admired him, I respected him and I loved him."

The two-time Big Ten coach of the year won a conference championship in each of his first three years and had four bowl victories, including the 1993 Rose Bowl over Washington. He resigned in May 1995, less than a week after he was arrested on charges stemming from a drunken outburst at a restaurant in suburban Detroit.

Desmond Howard, who won the 1991 Heisman Trophy while playing for Moeller, lamented that the coach's departure is part of his legacy at Michigan.

"He got pressure from administration to resign and the whole thing was messed up," Howard said in a telephone interview Monday night. "Bo was out of town and it wouldn't have happened if Bo was in town because he was that powerful, and no one would have overruled him."

Moeller bounced back in his personal and professional life, becoming tight ends coach for the Cincinnati Bengals that year. He went on to lead the Lions' linebackers and became their coach midway through the 2000 season when Bobby Ross quit.

Moeller was 4-3 as Detroit's coach and was perhaps a missed kick away from keeping his job. He was fired after Chicago's Paul Edinger made a 54-yard field goal with 2 seconds left to lift the Bears to victory in the regular-season finale.

NASCAR

He has seven other top-10 finishes and just missed another with an 11th at Phoenix. He has only placed outside the top 20 four times in 19 races.

What makes Elliott's performance even more impressive is that it's come in a season with 13 different winners already, including five drivers claiming their first career victory.

"There have been a lot of winners," Kurt Busch said, "but Chase Elliott has been that consistent rock."

With a comfortable lead in the point standings and a playoff spot all locked up, Elliott surely has his sights on a second Cup championship to add to the one he captured in 2020.

But crew chief Alan Gustafson said it's far too soon to start looking ahead. There's still seven races to go in the regular season, beginning with next weekend's event on the 1.058-mile oval at Loudon.

"A lot of things can happen," Gustafson said. "Just focus on trying to improve. There's still things we can do better."

Elliott has never won at New Hampshire Motor Speedway, managing one top-five showing in eight Cup appearances.

Of course, the Dawsonville native had a similar record on his home track before Sunday's victory.

Sporting a mustache that appears modeled after Atlanta Braves rookie pitcher Spencer Strider, Elliott hopes to carry on what's been a winning run for sports in his home state.

The Braves are the reigning World Series champions. The Georgia Bulldogs won college football's national title in January.

A few weeks ago, Elliott made a promotional appearance in Atlanta with both teams' championship trophies, along with the Cup he won two years ago.

"The way the fans, the way the Atlanta Braves organization and the University of Georgia have all just kept me as part of the family is really special and meaningful to me," Elliott said. "Ultimately, I'm just a fan of them. I've grown up watching them. I think it was really cool to include me and my team."

Actually, he fits right in.

Who knows? Elliott may have another trophy to display before the year is done.

Ashcraft allowed three runs and seven hits in five innings.

VOTTO'S RETURN

Votto returned after missing seven straight games due to lower back tightness and was 1 for 4. He grounded out in his first at-bat, struck out in the fourth, popped up in the sixth before ending a 0-for-17 skid with a single in the ninth.

Before the game, Votto tweeted a picture of the Seinfeld clip where Jason Alexander's character George Costanza gave former Yankees center fielder Bernie Williams batting advice.

BUILDING HOPE

The Yankees are holding their 13th annual HOPE Week, an event when every player participates in events honoring people and groups who serve their communities. Blue Chips, a NYPD co-ed youth mentoring and sports program, was honored Tuesday, and Nestor Cortes was among the players to visit the organization at the NYPD Police Academy in College Point, Queens, a few miles northeast of Citi Field.

On Monday's day off, 16-year-old Landis Sims, who was born without hands and lower legs, was honored. Sims took batting practice along with other baseball players from the Challenge Athletes Foundation and threw out the ceremonial first pitch. The Yankees are 39-16 during HOPE Week, which began in 2009.

Cousin's caregiving is actually care-taking

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Amy: My cousin was living with and taking care of my mom near the end of my mom's life.

My mother needed constant care. I was living hundreds of miles away at the time, so this was a good solution at the time. In 2013, I moved back home to Florida to be with my mom for whatever time she had left.

I soon found out that my cousin was taking almost all of my mom's SSI for herself. My cousin got $1,100 per month, leaving very little money left for my mother's use.

I finally removed my mom from her care, and my mom was happier for it.

I just can't forgive her for the harm she caused.

Mom died in 2014. My problem is that my other cousins and family members still talk to my cousin and treat her like she is part of the family.

They say I'm being unreasonable for not forgiving her and letting it go. I believe she was abusive toward my mother — financially and physically — but can't prove it.

Am I wrong for not wanting to forgive her for what she did? — Betrayed

Dear Betrayed: If you know that this family member abused your elderly mother, then your anger is justified.

From the tone of your question, it seems this allegation against your cousin has not been disputed. Nor has your cousin acknowledged, explained, apologized, or asked for your forgiveness.

You don't mention what the financial arrangement was with your cousin. I assume it was not contractual, but more of a casual arrangement between family members, involving housing and other benefits for your cousin.

There is no excuse for your cousin's behavior, and you might investigate any possible ways to pursue this legally. I urge you to explore ways to forgive yourself for any guilt you might be feeling.

You liberated your mother from her challenging circumstances, and she was happier at the end of her life.

Adolescent's gender identification causes confusion

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Amy: My 12-year-old granddaughter, "Casey," often stays with me during weekends. Casey has a friend from school who she has visited several times. She has had a sleepover at that friend's house — with her mom's permission.

I met the friend's mother briefly; I've only seen the friend from a distance.

Casey led me to understand her friend is a girl.

It seems now that although this friend was born female, she wants to transition to male, but is also gay, in that the friend wants to be a boy who is attracted to other boys. I am not comfortable with her having a sleepover with a boy.

Beyond that, I believe 12 is too young to make decisions about sexuality.

Casey is a handful — and that's putting it mildly. She lies routinely and is completely untrustworthy, so any information coming from her has to be taken with a grain of salt.

I don't want to offend her friend or the friend's parents, or have them think we would stop my granddaughter from going there simply because their child has a complicated sexual identity.

I'm at a loss about how to handle this. — Exhausted Grandma

Dear Exhausted: Let's set aside your granddaughter "Casey's" friend's gender exploration for now. If this information is coming from or being filtered through Casey, then I'd say you have a 12-year-old's explanation of another 12-year-old's gender journey.

The issue you should focus on is the question of where Casey will be spending the night when she is with you, and who will be in charge of her while she is with you: You, her mother, or Casey, herself.

When Casey is with you, at least at the outset, the wisest course would be for you to welcome her friend to spend time at your house, or for you to take them on an outing together.

This would enable you to make an acquaintance with the friend, get to know their parents, and to make an adult decision about a sleepover.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — You may put forth extra effort if motivated by a trying family situation. You might think you are being ignored but it could only seem that way if you have become too involved in someone else's drama.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Relying on a group consensus to make a decision might not be your first choice but could prevent you from feeling ostracized. You may prefer to work alongside someone else and could be uncomfortable working alone.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Remaining open-minded can pay dividends. You might only hear what you want to hear so make an extra effort to get all the info on board. You may be wanting to enjoy social activities or spend more time with loved ones.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Try on a new attitude. Something may happen that alters your perceptions about a relationship. Instead of focusing on what there is to criticize, focus on what can be built with what you have to work with right now.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — If you try to win at any cost, you could be challenged to compete against someone else's ambitions and objectives. Concentrate on doing your job while remaining cooperative and someone will help you achieve your dreams.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — While you'll never succeed without eventually facing facts, some days that is easier than others. If you are in process, wait to explain yourself. If you are feeling vulnerable, wrap yourself up in some warm and loving self-care.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — You may enjoy connecting with a network of friends. You could shine in group settings but are glad to get home where you can be yourself. You might be ready to seal a deal, but other parties may seem to be dragging their feet.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Share the day with friends and people you love. You may have worries that revolve around finances, but wise advice or counsel from loved ones or family members could help you find a perfect solution.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Demonstrate that you are committed to the team. Volunteer to handle paperwork piling up on someone's desk. At some point you may decide that too much socializing is distracting you from completing a job.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Your ability to attract love and affection could be turned up high but your desire to spend money may be low. Even if you have the resources, you may prefer to save your money for a rainy day.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — You must pay your dues and earn your keep. Every skill requires practice until you become proficient. You may be challenged to learn a new technique or handle additional duties while distracted by family issues.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Step up and do your part. There may be hard work at hand, but it will seem easier to accomplish when you visualize the results. Solidify a relationship by letting someone add their personal input to a creative project.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Having a buddy by your side can help you contend with family drama or extra duties. Be cautious about spending too much since there may be additional expenses or payment delays that create uncertainty.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Be purposeful to make progress. By making intelligent choices and dispelling unfounded fears, you can make headway despite encountering occasional obstacles. Avoid changes that might break the rules.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Conduct business as usual all day so you have time for relaxation later tonight. An intuitive understanding of financial maneuvering can put more money in your pocket. Get the best results by being thorough and concise.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — You may climb one hill only to find more hills ahead. Although you may easily conquer a problem, you are unlikely to be able to rest on your laurels as more problems may crop up. This is a time to rise to the challenge.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Yesterday's obsession could become today's drudgery. You may feel the need to work on a project without taking a break. A partner or close friend may share your passions or ambitions and keep you company.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Find the means to achieve your ends. If you focus on a great and beautiful vision, it is possible to achieve it. A friend or a romantic partner can contribute useful suggestions and know-how to aid your efforts.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Offset any grumbling with a display of good sportsmanship. Showing favoritism could lead to some jealousy so be evenhanded with your praise. Competing with someone for the attention of the boss might cause a conflict.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Play by the rules even when the rules seem unfair. Your commitment to excellence could be noticed by someone who will happily follow your lead. Work on making your love life more passionate and satisfying.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Let your talents speak for themselves. You could sell something by extolling its virtues, but you might do better if you let someone discover the benefits on their own. Criticism is best left unspoken.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Put your money in the bank. This is a good time to cut costs and save money. Focus on getting along with others rather than gaining control. Be sympathetic and as fair as possible with those you love.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Clear your mind for action. Memorizing protocols can help you avoid making mistakes but may not help you learn from them going forward. You may be too busy to enjoy an outing or social event.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — You can float above worries and material concerns. This could be a great night to grow closer to a loved one and share deep-seated beliefs. You may paint yourself into a corner if you pretend you do not care.

TOWN OF HANOVER BOARD OF ZONING APPEALS
The Town of Hanover Board of Zoning Appeals will hold a hearing on an Application for Variance submitted by Stanley King on June 24th, 2022.
This will be for the property located at 1645 S. Thompson Rd. Hanover, IN 47243 and is zoned R-A
The variance requested is to split the property. The ordinance calls for property in the area zoned R-A to have a lot dimension of 200x225 when there is no sewer available. The road frontage of this property would be approximately 153' wide.
There will also be discussion on updating the current zoning map and changes that are necessary to bring the map into compliance with ordinance changes that have occurred in the past 10 years.
Hearing will be held on Thursday July 28th 2022 at 6:00 pm at the Hanover Community Center, 200 Spruce Lane, Hanover, IN 47243.

Notre Dame hires VCU's Stiffler as baseball coach

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — Notre Dame has hired VCU's Shawn Stiffler to replace head baseball coach Link Jarrett, who left for Florida State after leading the Irish to the College World Series.

Stiffler, whose hiring was announced Tuesday, led the Rams to three Atlantic 10 regular-season championships and three NCAA Tournament appearances in 10 seasons.

The Rams are among seven programs to win at least 34 games each of the last eight full seasons.

"Notre Dame is the finest university in the country," Stiffler said. "It challenges everyone to become the best version of themselves and I cannot wait to continue recruiting, developing and working with student-athletes with that type of mindset."

VCU reached its first NCAA super regional in 2015 and made regional appearances in 2021 and 2022. Stiffler was 340-198 at VCU, including 146-71 in Atlantic 10 play.

Stiffler takes over a program that went 41-17 for its first 40-win season since 2006. The Irish beat No. 1 national seed Tennessee in super regionals and went 1-2 in its first CWS appearance since 2002.

Woods unsure how many British Opens he has left

BY DOUG FERGUSON

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland — Whether it's on Friday or Sunday, Tiger Woods will cross over the Swilcan Bridge for the final time in the British Open at St. Andrews.

He just doesn't know if that means this year or forever.

"Who knows?" Woods said Tuesday, unwilling to contemplate a future in golf he knows so little about. The Open isn't likely to return to the Old Course for at least four years, probably a bit longer.

• Madison High School senior Grace Bronkella finished second on a tiebreaker in the Indiana Junior Golf Tour event at Hidden Creek on Thursday.

Bronkella shot a 93 to tie Claire Thompson of Westfield for the top spot. However, Thompson was awarded the win on a scorecard tiebreak.

Grace Bronkella

On June 30, Bronkella placed 12th in the tour stop at North Branch Golf Course. She shot a 92.

• Former Madison golfing standout Keara Eder tied for fifth and current Madison sophomore Landon True was 27th in the Central Junior Masters at The Fort Golf Course in Indianapolis on Monday and Tuesday.

Eder, who graduated from Madison in May and will play at Marian University this fall, shot a two-round total of 152 (75-77) to finish tied with four other golfers in the girls division, five strokes back of winner Emma Weiler of Batesville. She tied for 23rd overall among all golfers.

True had a two-round total of 159 (77-82) to place 27th among boys and 44th among the 95 golfers.

• Madison senior Ben Orrill had an outstanding weekend playing baseball for Indiana Elite.

Orrill tossed a complete game shutout, allowing just two hits while striking out 12. At the plate, he was 9-for-15 on the weekend with three doubles and a triple.

The Hanover Parks Department and the Jefferson County Soccer Association is teaming up to offer soccer at Hanover Park this fall for the second year in a row.

Sign-ups for the JCSA-Hanover Fall League are currently under way. JCSA officials will be on-site at Hanover Park at 200 Spruce Lane accepting forms this Saturday and again on Saturday, July 30 from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. on both days. The cost is $55 and all practices and games will take place at Hanover Park.

In 2021 which was the first year of this partnership, there were three divisions (U6, U8, U10) with three teams in each. The goal in 2022 is to increase participation numbers through lower roster sizes. This will allow each participant the opportunity to maximize practice and playing time and improve their foot-to-ball skills. Coaches are also needed.

Applications are also available at the Hanover Park Office located in the Community Center at Hanover Park.

For more information about this soccer opportunity in Hanover, you can contact Brian Sachleben with JCSA at (502) 310-8484 and/or Scott Davidson with the Hanover Parks Department at (812) 806-1042 or (812) 292-4282.

• The Hanover College Summer Cross Country Racing Series will be held over the next two Wednesdays.

Each week, the race distance will increase one kilometer, starting with a 3K race this past week, moving to the 4K distance next week and ending with a 5K race. The final two races will be held July 20 and July 27 on Hanover College's nationally renowned cross country course, the site of the 2003, 2008 and 2013 NCAA Division III National Championships.

The cost is $4 per race and registration will begin at 6:15 p.m. each race night.

For more information, email Hanover College coach Brady Wells at wellsb@hanover.edu.

• The Madison Speed Clinic will be held at Madison Consolidated High School July 25-27.

The camp, which will be run by former Madison Cub speedsters Dauntee O'Banion, Jordan Partee and Wayne Sherbahn — all national champions — will provide high level coaching in order for athletes to take their performance to a new level.

The cost of the camp is $150 and there are a maximum of 50 slots available. The camp runs from 1-3 p.m. each day.

For more information, contact Madison boys track and field coach Scott Holcroft at (812) 701-4788, Partee at (812) 599-7605, or Sherbahn at (812) 801-9006.

James critical of US efforts to get WNBA's Griner home

BY DOUG FEINBERG
AP BASKETBALL WRITER

LeBron James is publicly criticizing the United States' handling of WNBA All-Star Brittney Griner's case in a trailer for an upcoming episode of his television show: "The Shop: Uninterrupted."

Griner is on trial in Russia for drug possession. She pleaded guilty last week and will appear again in court on Thursday.

"Now, how can she feel like America has her back?" James said in the trailer. "I would be feeling like, 'Do I even wanna go back to America?' "

James tweeted Tuesday night that his comments in the trailer weren't intended to be critical of the U.S. efforts to get Griner back.

"My comments on "The Shop" regarding Brittney Griner wasn't knocking our beautiful country," he said. "I was simply saying how she's probably feeling emotionally along with so many other emotions, thoughts, etc inside that cage she's been in for over 100+ days! Long story short #BringHerHome"

It's unclear when the show was filmed, although in the trailer it is mentioned that Griner had been in Russia for more than 110 days, which would have been nearly five weeks ago as she was detained on Feb. 17.

During the weeks since day 110, in addition to the trial beginning and the guilty plea, Griner's wife Cherelle has had a phone conversation with President Joe Biden. Biden also received a letter from Brittney Griner on July 4 and sent a letter back to her, which she was given in court last week.

There is also no mention of other detained Americans in the trailer.

NBA Commissioner Adam Silver, speaking later Tuesday after his league's board of governors meeting in Las Vegas, reiterated that the NBA and WNBA are "doing everything in our power" to bring Griner home.

"I'm accepting that the administration is doing everything they can right now," Silver said. "There are some seriously complex geopolitical issues here. And I'm sure as invariably as they are more focused on Brittney, there are other families who are of course concerned about their loved ones who are being held against their will in Russia right now. ... There are very difficult issues that the Biden administration has to face in terms of what's appropriate."

Washington hasn't disclosed its strategy in the case and the U.S. may have little leverage with Moscow because of strong animosity over its actions in Ukraine. The State Department's designation of Griner being wrongfully detained moves her case under the supervision of its special presidential envoy for hostage affairs, effectively the government's chief hostage negotiator.

U.S. Secretary of State Antony Blinken has said Washington will continue to work for the release of Griner, as well as other Americans held by Moscow, including former Marine Paul Whelan.

"We will not relent until Brittney, Paul Whelan, and all other wrongfully detained Americans are reunited with their loved ones," he tweeted last week,

National Security Adviser Jake Sullivan said Monday that former New Mexico Gov. Bill Richardson had been in contact with the National Security Council, but wouldn't comment on "his travel or what he intends to do" amid reports that Richardson plans to travel to Russia and work on Griner's release.

James' show will air on Friday.

Sun outshine Fever 89-81

INDIANAPOLIS — Jonquel Jones had 20 points and 14 rebounds, DeWanna Bonner added 19 points to move into 12th on the WNBA's career scoring list, and the Connecticut Sun beat the Indiana Fever 89-81 on Wednesday.

Bonner passed Seattle star Lauren Jackson (6,007) on the career scoring list, becoming the 14th player in WNBA history to reach 6,000 points. Lisa Leslie is 11th in career scoring with 6,263 points.

Brionna Jones added 17 points, Natisha Hiedeman had 11 and Courtney Williams scored all 10 of her points in the first half for Connecticut (15-8), which has won all four meetings with the Fever this season.

Jonquel Jones had 15 points and 11 rebounds in the first half to help Connecticut build a 41-28 lead. Indiana was just 8-for-30 shooting (26.7%) in the first half. The Fever scored 35 points in the fourth quarter.

Kelsey Mitchell scored 21 points and Victoria Vivians added 17 for Indiana (5-20), which has lost seven straight.
